Instant access to your important information.

With any 3Com® connected organizer, it's easy to take your important information with you. And now, with the Palm™ MacPac, you and your Macintosh, can be connected as well. It's the organizing system you've been waiting for.

The perfect companion to your Mac.

The Palm MacPac with Palm™ Desktop software was designed especially for Macintosh users. It is a native Mac OS application, so you know it's fast and reliable. It requires only 1.5MB of RAM to run, so it won't bog your system down. And because it was designed for the Palm Computing® platform, it gives you access to a host of Mac applications that are being developed for it.

Powerful features make organizing easier.

Palm MacPac puts your calendar, contacts, tasks, notes and more on your Macintosh. It works hand-in-hand with your 3Com connected organizer so you'll always be in touch with your important information. But the power doesn't stop there.

Palm MacPac software gives you lots of extra convenience and features to make organizing easier. You can view your data in customizable lists so you see the information you want. It lets you memorize those lists so you can instantly switch views to the one that's most convenient.

There are special printing options that allow you to print labels, address lists, calendars, task lists, faxes, even print in color.

In addition, there's an Instant Find feature that lets you find contacts quickly and create custom lists for mailings by location, company, or category. Instant Links—using AppleScript technology—let you write a letter using popular word processing programs or link to a website* right from the desktop. Attachments let you keep related contact information like notes, appointments, letters, faxes and files in one place. And the Instant Palm Desktop icon lets you instantly access your datebook, recent contacts and to do items from your Macintosh...without launching the complete application!

The platform of choice.

This is the software Macintosh users have been waiting for. With native Mac OS desktop software and powerful HotSync® technology, Macintosh users can enjoy the best of the leading handheld platform's functionality† as well as many unique features only available on the Mac. But that's only part of the story. Software developers are providing conduits so you can use some of your favorite Macintosh applications—e-mail, expense reporting and more. And, software developers are seeing the benefits of designing new applications and conduits specifically for the Mac OS. It all starts with your 3Com connected organizer and Palm MacPac.

Print just the way you want it—choose options for formatting, labels, color, print preview and more from one screen.

Native HotSync® technology brings powerful data synchronization to your Macintosh. Exchange data both ways between your connected organizer and Macintosh. Simply press the button on your cradle to synchronize contacts, schedules, notes and to do items. It takes just a few seconds. Adding applications to your connected organizer is just as easy. Simply drag-and-drop them on the HotSync Manager icon and they're ready to be installed during the next HotSync operation.

The Palm™ Desktop toolbar makes access to frequently used tasks quick and easy.

Organize your contact lists any way you want! Subsets of your list are memorized for instant access.

Drag and drop appointments to a new time or a new day with a click of your mouse.

Resizable task listing displays show when tasks are done.

Searching for the information you need is fast—no more waiting.

Customize weekly views to display one to seven days at once. Or, view a whole day or a whole month.

Move, resize, or stack windows to help you find information fast.
